

Margarita Venegas -- Biography

Margarita Venegas has been the Communications Strategist for the Division of Finance and Administration at the University of North Texas since May 2017. She works on internal and external communications throughout the division and with each of its departments.

Margarita started her career in higher education in 2013 as a communications specialist for UNT, working in public relations as spokesperson, crisis communicator and media relations director for the university. Prior to her work at UNT, she was a journalist for 17 years for newspapers across the East Coast and in Texas covering crime, courts, politics, education and personal interest stories.

Margarita holds a bachelor's degree in journalism from UNT.