

Jordan Smith

Jordan Smith is the manager of the Higher Education Team at the Legislative Budget Board, where his team is responsible for all public post-secondary education institutions and numerous university affiliated agencies. Prior to moving to the Higher Education team, he served as an analyst on the General Government and Business and Economic Development teams. He holds a bachelor's in business finance at Texas A&M University and a Master's degree in Economics from Baylor University.